sheet about him and steal off to the grave-yard of buried Democratic humbugs. Even the "hard times," for so many elec-tions their chief attraction, has ceased to draw and no longer appears upon the bills. This favored year, Democratic editors and orators have graciously consented not to hold the Republican party responsible for the famine in Ireland, the pestilence in the Orient, and the earthquake in Peru. All their old battle cries have lost their rallying power and been abandoned. This blessed year their whole political capital appears to be invested in a grand display of love and affection for the sol-dier. The sinister character of this sud-denly inspired passion can be readily dis-covered by the way and manner it displays itself.

canyas large enough whereon he can paint the big soldier in such immense proportions that below and underneath him—through the transparent thinness of this pretended love for the Union soldier—may be faithfully portrayed the past and present of the Democratic party. If the painting prove true to history, and faithfully records the facts, in the far background will be seen the authors of the foul plot to plant slavery upon the free soil of the West, and chief among these is English, of Indiana, the Vice Presidential candidate, whose barrel awaits the tapping. In front of these will stand the worthies who stood upon street corners, in front of hotel bars and semi-public places during the dark and doubtful days of the war, and boasted of rebel prowess and rejoiced at rebel victories. Still in front of these will be grouped the patriots who gathered at Chicago in 1864, and while their candidate of to-day was trying to whip rebels at the front, treacherously attacked him on the flank and in the rear; that famous body of men who counseled together how best to betray the country and hit upon the plan of declaring the war for the Union a failure. Near by will be planted the Confederate flag, which a Solid South a few years ago followed just as zealously as it now follows the Democratic banner, and rallying around it will be seen the whole band of marryrs who for four years have besieged the National Capital and crept into places of trust and profit once held by Union soldiers. Way up in front in solid column will stand the rebel Brigadiers whose votes control a Democratic President if one should ever be elected. The painting will not be complete if the artist stops here. A place must be found for sketches of outrages which have driven loyal men from their homes and made a South solid for a Democratic President if one should ever be elected. old soldier for a figure head, is audacity intensified. And yet it was a great thing the Democratic party sought to accomplish at Cincinnati, and in part succeeded. They managed in hot haste to bury Tilden, and they thought they had put down the ghost of the bloody shirt. It is much too early yet to determine which gave them the greater joy.

For fifteen years not an election has been won by the Democratic party in the State of New York in which Samuel J. Tilden's money and Samuel J. Tilden's brains have not been the most potent factors. We will presently see how well that party can plan and fight a battle after losing both.

And why were Tilden and Bayard, Thurman and Randail, Payne and Hendricks, put one side and Hancock marched to the Iront. Why were a long line of tried and faithful Democratic statemen sent to the rear, and the leadership intrusted to one who like all regular army officers has pretended all his life to be a non-partian, but nominally a Democrat?

yes.

The astute politicians of the party saw only defeat with an honest Democratic platform, or in better words a genuine Democraton a genuine Democratic platform.

Democratic platform. The people must be deceived.

Thurman and States Rights would die "bornin." Tilden and reform is not only dead but stinketh. Randall and a return of rebels to power was liable to be indicted by a Pennsylvania grand jury as a public nuisance. Payne and his barrel was hopeful, but the spigot might run dry. Hendricks and his rag buly would not live to reach the battery, and overboard they went, and the Bourbon mourners go about the streets wondering if it will ever seem natural to hurrah for a Union soldier.

A soldier was nomipated at Cincinnati by the Democratic party because Democratic leaders knew that without a blue coat to hide the general "enssedness" of their cause there was not the faintest hope of success. It is said that murder will out, and the committee to notify the nominee of his selection to be the standard bearer of the party could not keep the secret. The old General was told it was not his brilliant flighting at Gettysburg, but his treading to rable it. New Orleans and Coughs.—"Brown's Brouchial Troches" are used with advantage to alleviate coughs, sore throat, hoarseness and bronchial affections. For thirty years these Troches have been in use, with annually increasing favor. They are not new and untried, but, having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age.

The Throat—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" act directly on the organs of the

in all disorders of the throat and larynx, restoring a healthy tone when relaxed,

The old General was told it was not his brilliant fighting at Gettysburg, but his toldying to rebels in New Orleans and Texas that gave him the victory. "Your nomination," said Mr. Stevenson, Chairman of the convention, in his letter officially notifying Gen. Hancock of his nomination, "was not made alone because in the midst of arms you illustrated the highest qualities of a soldier, but," as Col. John W. Forney wrote in 1893, "because in New Orleans, where he is at present stationed as the commanding officer of the Fifth Military District, he does not offend the tastes or hurt the feelings of the people there by wearing the national uniform. Would it not soothe the sensitive feelings of the particle Louisianians if he should don the gray?" when an immediate relief can be so readily attained? Boscher's Grunna Nynur has gained the largest sale in the world for the ourse of Coughs, Colds and the severest Lung Diseases. It is Dr. Boschee's famous German prescription, and is prepared with the greatest care, and no fear need be entertained in administering it to the youngest child, as per directions. The sale of this medicine is unnrecedented. Since first introduced there has been a constant increasing demand and without a single report of a failure to do its work in any case.
